Repeated Search Task: Financial Literacy

Prompt for Initial Phase [PHASE1-FINANCE]	Prompt for Final Phase [PHASE3-FINANCE]
Money management and financial literacy are essential life skills, and what better time to learn about them than in college? Write a note to your future self, about essential money-related advice and skills that college students should know and practice. What to do: • Find at least three (3) unique, good quality online resources that are relevant to this topic • Look for resources that help establish connections and develop a narrative What to deliver: • Write a summary of the lessons, advice, and/or tips you found across the different resources. This is a note to your future self, so the narrative can be in a format that is most useful and interesting to YOU :) • Paste the links of ALL the resources that you finally selected to develop your narrative, in the second text box, one link per line Please turn YASBIL ON before starting to search. Write the summary (note to your future self) here: _____ Paste the links of the resources that you finally selected (at least 3), one per line: _____	At the start of the semester, you wrote a note to your future self, about essential money-related advice and skills that college students should know and practice. Here is what you wrote: [… dynamic content showing participant's PHASE1 response …] Here are the resources you took help from: [… dynamic content …] Now you have a chance to update or revise the note with more information. You can either choose to write afresh, or copy-paste the note from above into the first textbox below and add to it /edit it. Feel free to search the web if you need to, after turning YASBIL on. You can choose NOT to search, as well. If you do choose to search, please paste the links of ALL the resources that you finally selected for updating your note, one link per line, in the second textbox. The links can be the same ones you visited earlier, or different. Please turn YASBIL ON before starting to search (if you choose to search). Write the updated summary (note to your future self) here: _____ Paste the links of the resources that you used to update your note here, one per line. If you did not search this time, type "N/A": _____ Did you need to search the web for updating the note? Why? Yes: _____ No: _____ Other: _____